MATELUX®

As the world's largest glass manufacturer, AGC provides the widest range of glass products for both interior and exterior applications.

Matelux, a premium acid-etched glass, strikes a balance between privacy and translucency with a high-quality, satin finish. The silky-soft surface and uniform grain transmits a high level of diffused light for special aesthetic effects while providing varying degrees of privacy. Matelux is also UV resistant, meaning that it will not discolor, and it is resistant to fingerprints and stains, making it easy to clean and maintain.

Matelux is available in a range of color and finish options. It fabricates like regular float glass and is subsequently suitable for use in both interior and exterior applications, such as walls, partitions, tabletops and showers.

AGC is dedicated to providing world class service that is second to none and can help you bring your next project to life with Matelux.
